FOREWORD

Within these pages we have tried to place the aims of the 1932 QUILL. May the achievements of our high school days help us to find our place in the work of the world.

DEDICATION

to

SUPERINTENDENT C. B. VERNON

We, the class of 1932, respectfully dedicate this, the XV year book of Marion High School, to our superintendent, whose vigorous leadership, inspiring ideals, and kindly sympathy have won for him a place of honor and devotion in the hearts of Marion High School students.

Education is the process designed to help a human being to appreciate God, to know himself, and to understand the spirit of the age in which he lives so that he can live in, serve, and act within the community in which his lot is cast.

CLASS POEM

Life has its measured beat and span
Its warm ambition and its chill defeat,
We cast our all into the game
And strive her baffling blows to meet.

Life has its price for victory
We pay full measure for our gain,
Silver of youth and gold of health
All is sold for a glimpse of fame.

Life has its solace to all who strive
To live, to think, to feel, to care,
True friendship is the big reward
That comes to all those who dare.

We're leaving friends and teachers now
Who've helped us through the years,
We wish you luck and much success
As we go out to meet life's test.

CLASS SONG

(Tune—When You Come to the End of The Day)

The time has come at last for us to part
And leave our dear old school, Marion High
We'll miss the fun and chums we've come to know here
And our trials and tribulations too.

Though high school days are o'er we'll think of you;
We'll always love our happy times at school.
The years we've worked with you we count life's best;
Memories of you will linger with each of us.

CHORUS

We are leaving you dear Marion High,
Four short years have passed rapidly by;
We have worked and played on our way through,
We have learned to love you, Marion High.
Our thoughts shall be ever with you
As we go on our life's weary way;
Will you think of us as we do of you
When we leave you dear old Marion High?

CLASS HISTORY

One radiant September morning in the year one thousand nine hundred and nineteen, the dirigible christened the Class of 1932 sailed majestically away on its endurance flight.

Seven years of learning slipped by, and the dirigible finished the first lap of its long journey, for it had safely carried its passengers to junior high. There the controls were turned over to those skillful pilots Burns, Steen, Mills, Roberts, Yachik, Finger, and Deitrich who, during the next two years, finished grooming the passengers for the last and most important stage of the journey.

Then, at last, the huge monster of the air soared into Marion High School. The dirigible was turned over to Hoskins, Tollefson, Parkhill, Bush, Schomberg, Mentzer, and Roeder who assumed command and instructed the passengers in the mazes of English, algebra, science, and Latin. The following class officers were elected for the freshman year: Elliott Hutton, president, Annie Laura Davidson, vice-president, and Fay Springer, secretary-treasurer. Of course we enjoyed other things besides the regular curricular activities. The girls promptly and enthusiastically joined the various organizations; such as, the Girls' Athletic Association, the Girl Reserves, and glee club. The boys came under the influence of Coaches Wolfe and Roeder and became intensely interested in football, basketball, track, and baseball. With Miss Hoskins as our class sponsor, we had several parties in the gymnasium to help us become better acquainted. Then, with exams behind us, we drifted off into the land of vacation.

In September we again forgot vacation and headed back to M. H. S. as sophomores. This time we were placed under the supervision of Hunt, Cain, Barnett, Willard, Saysell, Simpson, and Carstensen. Again Miss Hoskins was appointed sponsor. At the annual election of officers, Max Berlin won the presidency, Catherine Cooper became vice-president, Claribel Goodyear treasurer, and James Sweeney secretary. Thomas Lawson brought honor to our class by winning second place in the declamatory contest which was held at Mt. Vernon. The parties were many and entertaining. A weiner roast at the scout cabin and the all-high school dance were the most outstanding social affairs of the year.

Then came the junior year. New additions to the dirigible's crew were Austin, Steenbergen, and Pugh. The following class officers were elected: Everett Dykes, president, George Berryman, vice-president, Catherine Crane, secretary, and Freda Mary Smith, treasurer. We assumed an air of great importance this year. One reason for that was the junior class play, The Whole Town's Talking, directed by Miss Barnett. It was a peppy comedy, containing many humorous situations and a happy ending. The homecoming dance provided a good time for all who attended. The gym, all decorated in resplendent colors, was a veritable fairyland. At last the long looked forward to junior-senior banquet hove into view. We set out to make the affair a success, and, after a good deal of controversy, we were permitted to hold the banquet in the Crystal Room of the Montrose Hotel in Cedar Rapids. The outcome was as successful as we had anticipated, and even the teachers seemed unusually genial. At last it was time for another vacation!

After the years of preparatory flight, we sailed into our senior year. By this time our dirigible was getting wobbly, but we decided it must last for nine months more. We began to sit up and take notice when Mr. Shutts introduced physics, but even that couldn't stop the election of class officers. The following were elected: Kenneth Gibson, president, Marvin Batchelder, vice-president, Raymond Manson, secretary, and Betty Murphey, treasurer. The annual G. A. A. and G. R. initiations and a high school dance were the important events of the first semester. After much heated argument, the class ring was selected. We chose the sweet pea for our class flower, with coral and silver for our colors. We selected for our class motto: "Our business in life is to be, to do, to do without, and to depart." Once again Tommy Lawson won first place in the humorous section of the declamatory contest held in the auditorium, while Annie Laura Davidson received second place in the dramatic division. As our school days approached an end, the junior-senior banquet gave us something more to remember. The Baccalaureate Sermon, Class Day exercises, Commencement, and the Alumni Banquet brought the endurance flight to an end. The Class of 1932 abandoned the dirigible and drifted out into the world. Our flight was won. We had achieved a record sprinkled with many good times and hours of study, but never will the passengers forget those happy, carefree days that preceded the irksome duties and responsibilities that constitute the great game of life.

CLASS WILL

We, the class of 1932, being of sound and disposed mind, do hereby bequeath the following articles:

Margaret Albaugh wills her daily visits to the Physics lab room for help to any junior wishing to continue said visits.

Myrna Albaugh bequeaths her secret ambition to become a chorus girl to Callie Hagerman.

Marvin Batchelder donates to Gaylen MacDougall his interest in I. S. T. C.

Oscar Bensch, having nothing he cares to part with, can leave nothing.

Max Berlin wills his faithfulness to one, to Trevelyn White, who needs the care and guidance of some good woman.

Geraldine Brenneman wills her inevitable giggle to sedate Howard Miller.

Madeline Brutsman and Agnes May will their boistercus ways to Madonna Cotton and Evelyn Peterson.

Marian Busby regretfully states that there is nothing she can possibly part with.

James Cleghorn wills his mighty physique to poor undernourished Johnny Welter.

Catherine Cooper wills her ability to break dates to Dorothy Smith, who also seems to find dating a very complicated matter.

Catherine Crane wills her irresistible grin to Stanley Alsop, who has a disgusting habit of appearing bored.

Isabel Darr and Ruth Klemm will their free transportation to and from the schoolhouse to any two of their less fortunate school-mates.

Annie Laura Davidson wills her "sweet sixteen and never been kissed" to all others in the same boat.

Harley Daws and Gerald Ozburn will their oversupply of dates to Dale Smith, who we fear is on the road to bachelorhood.

Wilmer Dean requests that his blonde style of good looks be given to Lawrence Gordon.

Ronald Dolan wills his resemblance to Clark Gable, to that vain Frankie Flack.

Everett Dykes wills his ability to get excuses to Earl McGuire, who it seems hasn't discovered just how to convince Mr. Pugh.

Lloyd Edwards wills his daily flare-up with Mr. Wolfe to Raymond Smith, who he is sure can present some weighty arguments.

Harold and Marvin Fernow bequeath their weakness for curls to Dennie Brooks.

Kenneth Gibson wills his saddest regrets at leaving the old school to anyone who wants them.

Clar'bel Goodyear wills her theme song "Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight," to Agnes Carey.

Arlyne Graham wishes her banquet dress to be bestowed upon Carrie Hanson.

MUSIC HONORS

The glee clubs and band under the direction of Miss Wilcox and Mr. Popejoy respectively have had much success in their work during the past season.

The musical organizations of the high school presented a home concert as an exhibition of their work.

The sub-district contest was held in Monticello March 31 and April 1. Marion won eight first and four second places in this contest. The mixed chorus won first. The boys' quartette composed of Lawrence Kimes, Melvin McBride, Eliott Hutton, and Robert Smith won first place. Daisy Alcock, as solo cornetist, won first place. Theodore Silker won first in the clarinet solo group. Melvin Oldfather won first in the tuba solo group. The band won first by default. The Woodwind sextette, composed of Marian Busby, Seigle Fleisher, Anna Helen Martin, Robert Titus, Waldo Lindley, and Theodore Silker won first place; and the brass quartette, composed of Betty Murphey, Raymond Smith, Marvin Batchelder, and Elliott Hutton also won first place.

Both the boys' and girls' glee clubs placed second. The girls' sextette placed second. Elliott Hutton in the trombone solo group placed second. Seigle Fleisher placed second as flute soloist. Catherine Crane, as soprano soloist, did not place.

Theodore Silker placed first in the clarinet solo group at the district contest held in Waterloo, April 15th and 16th. The band won first place. The woodwind sextette group placed second. The brass quartette, mixed chorus, boys' quartette, tuba soloist, and cornet soloist, all placed third.

The winners of this contest represented Marion at the state contest in Iowa City, the seventh of May, the band placing first; Theodore Silker, clarinet soloist, third.

First Row—Bernice Hillerege, LaVerna Mae Titus, Margaret Miller, Annabelle Pearson.

ACADEMIC MEET

The Iowa State Academic Meet last year was carried on in a somewhat different manner. Instead of holding a district meet in Cedar Rapids as has been the custom, members from each district were chosen to participate in the state meet in Iowa City. Eleven contestants from Marion participated in the state meet. Those receiving highest in each group are as follows:

English Correctness, ninth—Robert Titus, Lyle VanFossen, Bessie Neff.
English Correctness, tenth—Frances Keeler, Dorothy Burrows, Eileen Ferreter.
English Correctness, eleventh—Margaret Miller, Bernice Hillerege, Annabelle Pearson.
English Correctness, twelfth—Ida Patschke, Mary Lefebure, LaVerna Mae Titus.

The Girl Reserves is one of the oldest of high school girls' associations. It was organized by Miss Locke and Miss Muirhead in 1920 as the Girls' Hi-Y Club. When the organization became affiliated with the Y. W. C. A., it adopted the name of Girl Reserves. Mother advisors as well as teacher advisors are sponsors of the group.

The organization attempts to create civic, moral, and social interest. During the year it has distributed food on Thanksgiving Day and sponsored a party for needy children at Christmas.

Second Row—Eileen Ferreter, Lenore Dipple, Robert Munsen, Dorothy Burrows, Margaret Ross.

First Row—Martin Atkins, Allan Edwards, Mr. Shutts, Lyle VanFossen.

INTERSCHOLASTIC DEBATES

The question for debate this year: "Resolved, that the several states should enact legislation for compulsory unemployment insurance," proved to be of great interest to the Marion debaters. All members of the team proved to be enthusiastically interested in their work as in previous years. This year the affirmative won two, lost four, and participated in thirteen non-decision debates. The negative won four, lost four, and participated in eleven non-decision debates. All of this year's team will be back again next fall to represent Marion High School.

"THE TORCH BEARERS"

Presented by the Class of 1931

SCENES

Act I—Living room in the Frederick Ritter home, on an evening in October about eight o'clock.

Act II—Behind the scenes at Horticultural Hall, the following evening at eight-thirty o'clock.

Act III—The drawing room at Ritter's home, two hours later.

SYNOPSIS

Mrs. Paula Ritter (Mildred Carpenter) is desirous of a theatrical career despite the opposition of her husband, Frederick Ritter (Charles Slausen). When Mr. Ritter returns from an out of town business trip, he finds his wife rehearsing for a home talent play, under the direction of Mrs. Pampinelli (Margaret Oldfather). After much practice and work, the play is finally acclaimed a success.

OPERETTA

"THE GYPSY ROVER"

Act I—A Gypsy Camp near London, in the morning.

Act II—A Room in the Home of Sir George, two weeks later.

Act III—Same as Act II—two years later.

SYNOPSIS

The story of the play is built around the character of Rob, in reality Sir Gilbert Howe, who was stolen from his cradle when a baby.

One day Lady Constance Martendale rides in the woods with her fiancee, Lord Craven; her horse gets away. While wandering around she roves into a gypsy camp where she meets Rob. They immediately fall in love. After a two years elapse, Rob comes into his own, and he finally woos and wins Constance for his wife.

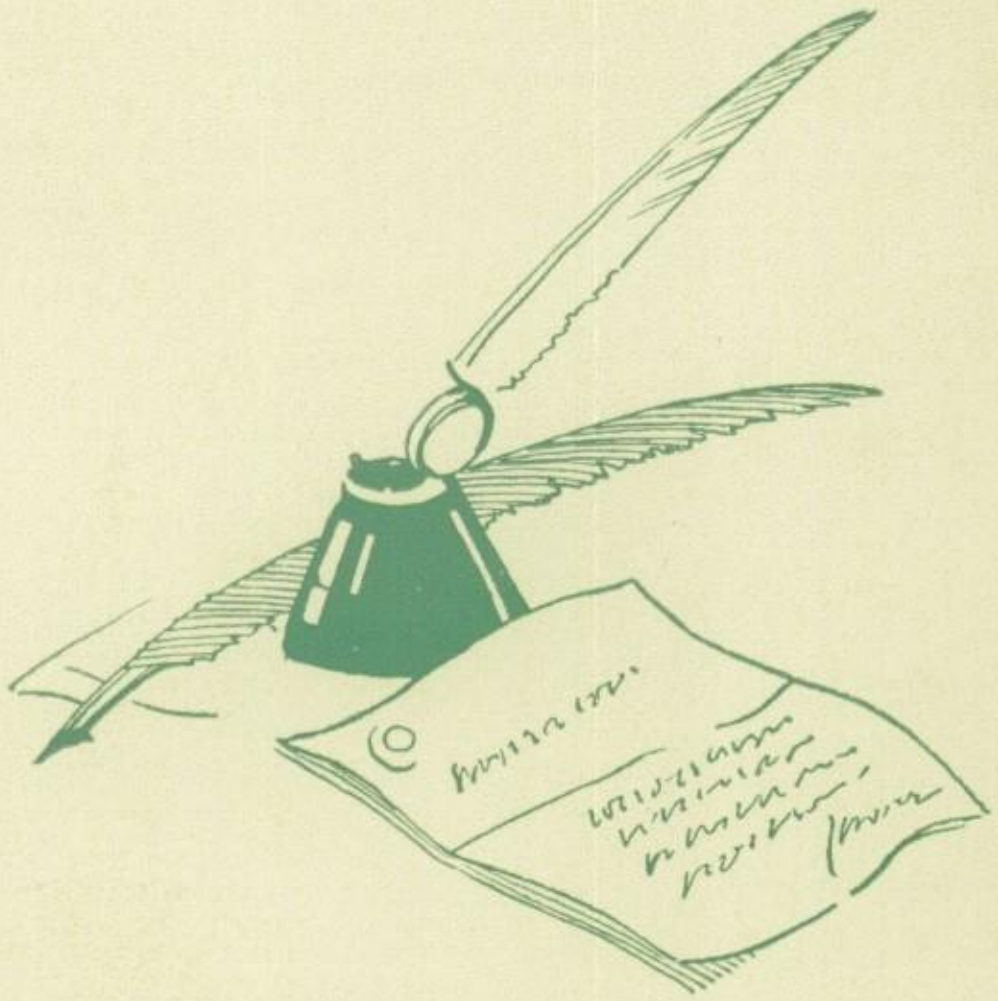
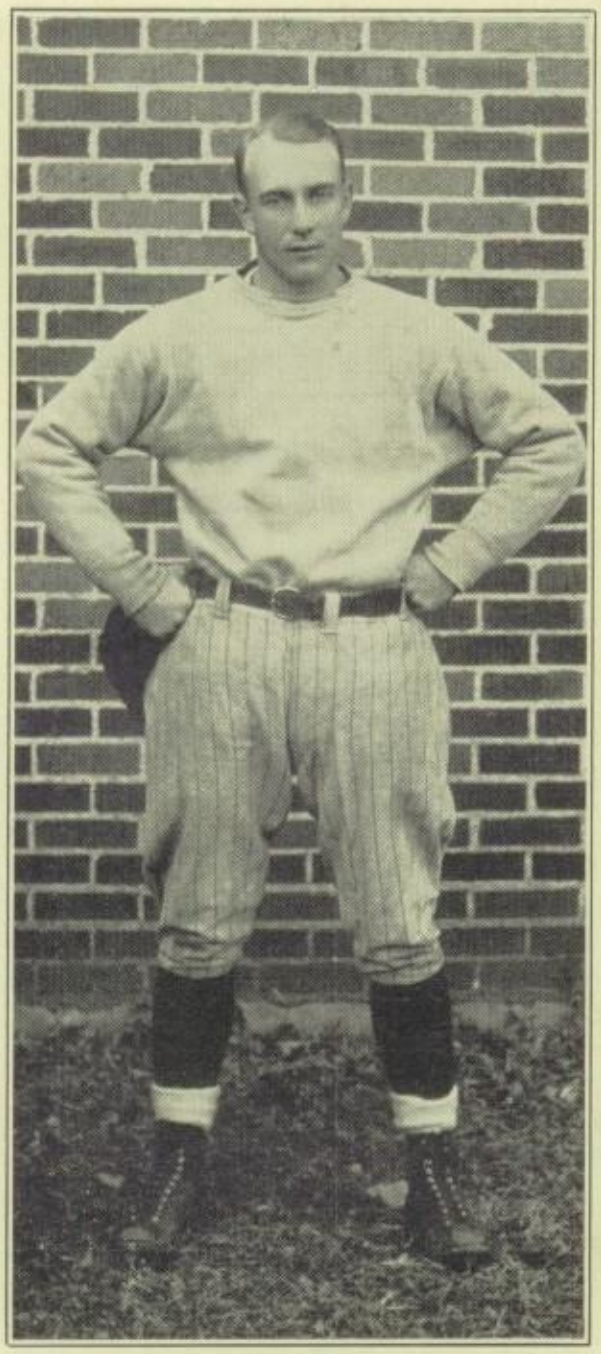
Athletics



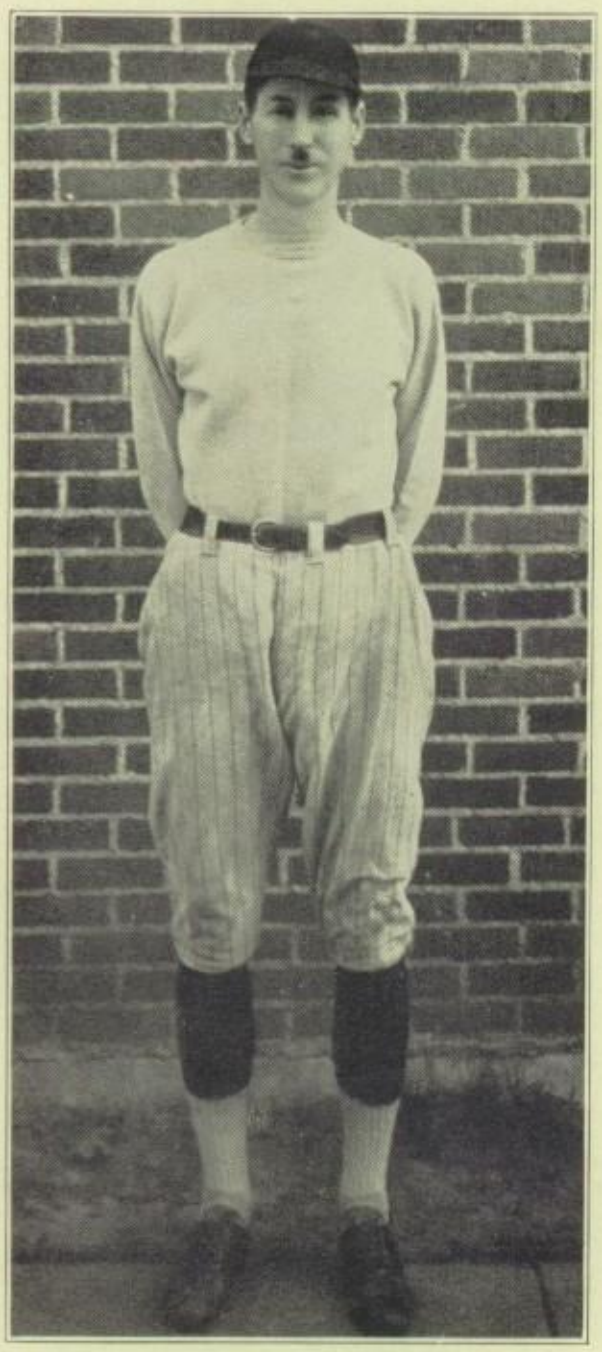
"Wise is the man, and bound to grow
Who knows he knows a thing or so
But who is not afraid to show
The many things he doesn't know."

The growing recognition given Marion teams is a direct reflection of the sterling character and personality of Marion High School's athletic director, Coach Wolfe.



MR. WOLFE

MR. ROEDER



Joe Roeder, coach of baseball, has served in the capacity since 1929. His development of different teams for the past four years is sufficient evidence of his knowledge of all forms of the sport and the effective power of his system.

FOOTBALL SQAUD

Five letter men and a large group of reserves reported to Coaches Wolfe and Roeder at the beginning of the season. Prospects were not very bright at first, but as the new members gained confidence and experience, things began to look better. Then a string of injuries and illness struck the squad in mid season, and two hard-fought games were lost, but by Armistice Day a formidable team was wrought and from that day to the end of the season, the Cardinal and Gold waved on high.

The crowning achievement of the season was the 25 to 6 defeat hung on our ancient rivals, Anamosa, on Thanksgiving Day. Other well played games were with Independence, Mt. Vernon, and Tipton.

Nine lettermen from the 1931 squad will be eligible for 1932 and next year should find Marion ranking high in football circles. This year's line will be intact from tackle to tackle, and with three veterans in the backfield, should form one of the strongest teams in Marion High history.

BASKETBALL SQUAD

A selected group of 17 candidates reported to Coach Wolfe for basketball practice at the beginning of the 1931-1932 season. There was only one letterman, Ozburn, among them, and prospects for a winning season were not bright. However, after a slow start, the team began to improve and by the end of the season formed a very good quintet. Several combinations were tried early in the season but the one used most consistently the last half was made up of Brooks and Berlin, forwards, Ozburn, center, and Hutton and MacDougall guards. The team won 7 games, lost 8, and tied one for the season.

At the end of the season "Jiggs" Ozburn was chosen honorary captain for the season, and MacDougall was elected captain for the 1932-1933 season. The high light of the 1931-1932 season was the 24 to 18 triumph over Vinton on the Vinton floor. This marked the first defeat Vinton had suffered on her own floor in three years.

Capt. Ozburn, Hutton, and Berlin are the graduating members of the team, leaving Coach Wolfe with a fair nucleus for next year. Brooks, Harte, Shirley, and Dale Smith, forwards; Lassen, center; Bob Smith, Capt. MacDougall, and Hunter, guards, will all be back.

FOOTBALL LETTER MEN

MAX BERLIN. Captain. Two Letters. Halfback. Max has a record for consistency that is hard to beat. An inspiring leader, excellent signal-caller and kicker, his absence will be felt when the tocsin is sounded in '32.

JAMES SWEENEY. One Letter. End. Jim has been a conscientious member of the squad for three years. He will be missed next year when the team again takes the field.

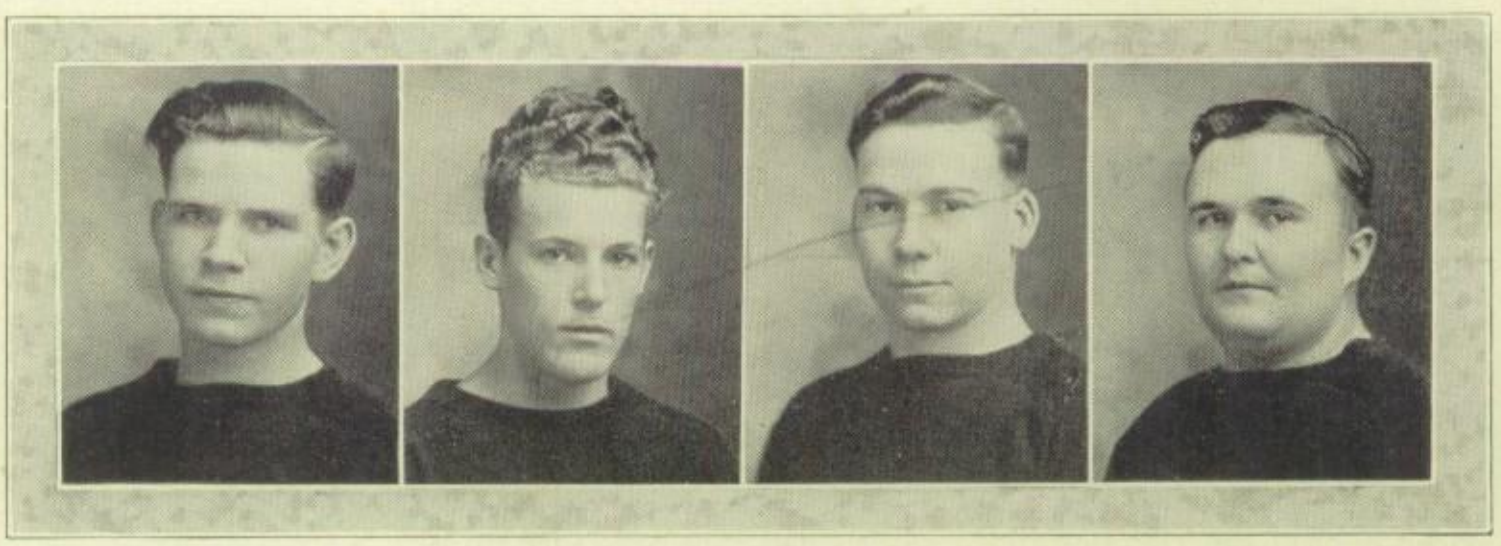
MARVIN BATCHELOR. Three Letters. Tackle. "Batch" is a three year letterman who fully deserves the praises he received. The steadiest, most dependable blocker on the squad.

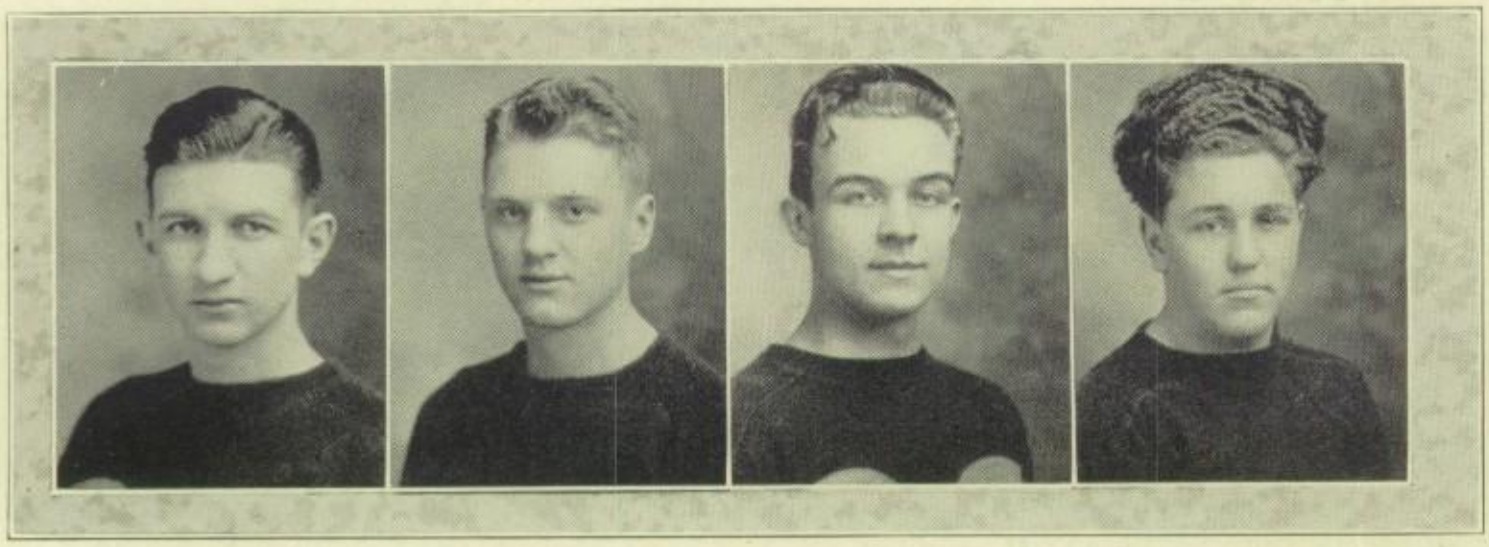
LAWRENCE KIMES. One Letter. Guard. Jumbo was a real heavy weight who knew how to make his presence felt by the opposition.

OSCAR BENSCH. One Letter. End. A reserve for two seasons. Os came into his own this year, and, although hampered by injuries, he showed how the end position should be played.

THEODORE SILKER. One Letter. Center. The hardest worker on the squad for four years. He could fill in almost any vacant position which the coach wanted filled.

JAMES. JORDAN. One Letter. End. Jim played the game with everything he had. Coach will miss him next year.





FOOTBALL LETTER MEN

JOHN WELTER. Captain-Elect. Three Letters. Center. Rated as one of the best centers in Eastern Iowa high schools, John really deserves the captaincy for '32. His 212 pounds of bone and muscle are the pivot point of attack and defense.

MARVIN HARTE. One Letter. Halfback. Harte developed into a fine plunging and defensive back and played a consistent game all year.

GALEN MACDOUGALL. Two Letters. Tackle. Mac is one of the finest tackles to wear the Cardinal in many years. Mighty little yardage is gained through his position.

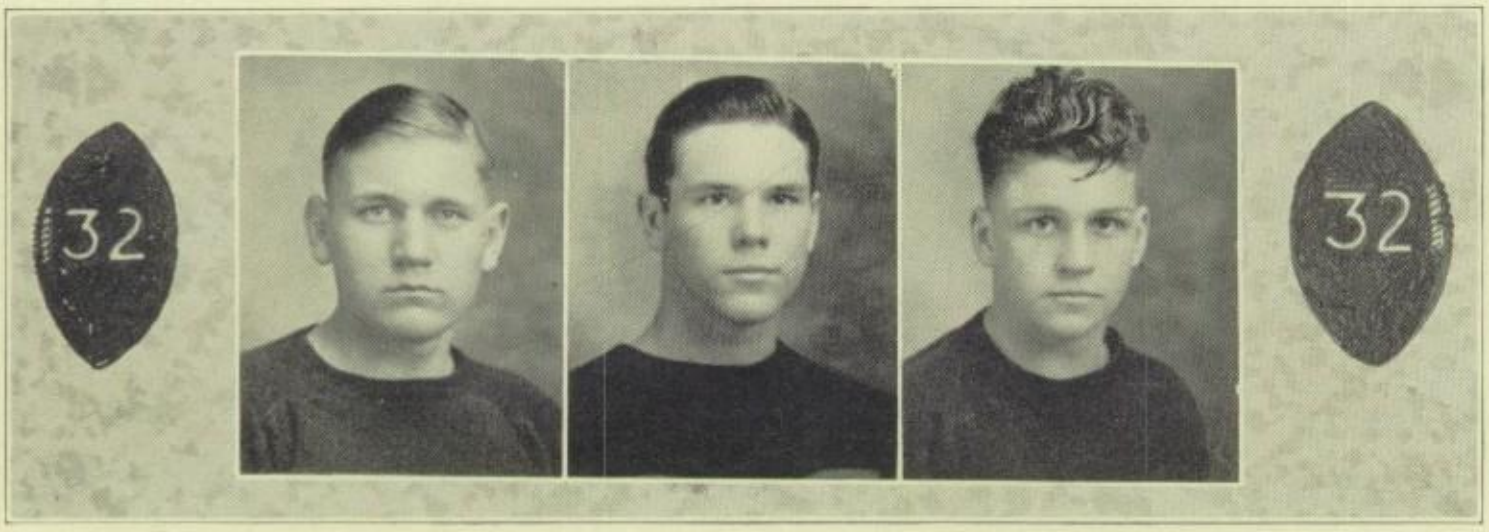
ROBERT SMITH. Two Letters. Fullback. Shifted from end to fullback, Bob should be a mainstay in next year's line.

RAYMOND SMITH. One Letter. Guard. Tubbo was in there all the time. He should be a mainstay in next years' line.

DELBERT LASSEN. One Letter. Guard. "Pete" uses his height and weight to good advantage in the middle of the line. He should be a star next year.

GARTH HUNTER. One Letter. Quarterback. The offensive star of the team, his speed and shiftiness made him the outstanding back in every game.

DALE SMITH. One Letter. End. A scrappy end who will be welcomed back in '32.



BASEBALL

The baseball season at Marion High School opened with forty fellows reporting for practice under the coaching of Joe Roeder and Captain Charles Slauson.

Two letter men returned for practice, Captain Slauson and Curtis, both pitchers. A rather successful season was accomplished, Marion winning eleven out of fifteen games including the two tournaments, one at Center Point, and the other at LaPorte City.

After winning the County Tournament, Marion lost to Bennett in the finals at the District Tournament.

Marion lost eight letter men by graduation. These were Captain Slauson, Curtis, DeLancey, Castle, Starry, McGowan, Tudeen, and Brooks. However, we have three letter men left, Captain-elect Hutton, Luense, and Smith.

TRACK 1931

The largest squad in several years reported to Coach Wolfe for track in 1931. Likewise, one of the most successful seasons was enjoyed. Led by Captain Arp, the squad opened their schedule by winning the two-mile relay trophy and finishing fourth in the 440 yard relay and medley relay at the I. S. T. C. Relays at Cedar Falls. The two-mile team was composed of Arp, L. Edwards, and R. Reynolds.

The following Saturday the squad rather handily won the A. M. Meet at Monticello, participated in by Manchester, Monticello, Vinton, Anamosa, and Marion. In this meet, R. Reynolds won the 440 yard and 880 yard runs; Welter won the shot-put, and Berlin the broad-jump, setting new records in all these events. McDougall earned the tie for first in the pole vault, Kimes placed in the discus throw, Ozburn in the javelin throw, Hunter in the 220 yard dash, and Reynolds in the 100 yard dash. The half-mile relay team, who won their specialty in fast time, was composed of Berlin, Sweeney, Harte, and Hunter. The mile relay team also won and set a new record and was made up of Dawes, McBride, Arp, and R. Reynolds.

Ralph Reynolds, although weakened by sickness, qualified at Cedar Falls District Meet for the State Meet at Ames. Ozburn also qualified in the javelin throw, but neither placed in the finals.

The following made the necessary points to win letter awards for the season: R. Reynolds, Dawes, Arp, McBride, L. Edwards, Sweeney, Harte, Hunter, Berlin, McDougall, Ozburn, and Welter.

GRADUATION

GRADUATION time is
JUST ahead and we THINK it's one of the
PROUDEST moments of a
LIFE time—not only
TO the graduates but
TO the parents—and
HAVE you ever stopped
TO think that your
BOY only graduates
FROM high school once
AND there's nothing
HE would appreciate
MORE at this time
THAN a nice graduation
SUIT with all the
LITTLE "accoutrements"
THAT go with it—
REALLY the graduation
SUIT is your expression
OF pride in him and
AFTER these many
YEARS of school work,
HE'S entitled to the
BEST—don't you think?
WHICH suggests the fact
THAT we have a
WONDERFUL line of suits
THAT will please the
BOY and please you, too.

When Betty returned from her first day at school, she was asked how she enjoyed it.

"I liked it all right," said Betty, "but I didn't get any present."

"What made you think you would get a present, dear?"

"Teacher said, "Sit here for the present, and I sat there all morning and never got one."

Ada: "Is it true you're going to be married?"
Arlyne: "No, but I'm thankful for the rumor."

Dog Catcher: "Do your dogs have licenses?"
Tommy: "Yes, sir; they're just covered with them."

Miss Wood: "Crandall, what are all these marks at the end of your theme for?"

Crandall: "Oh, those are punctuation marks. Just put them where you think they're needed."

January 16. Seniors' Kid Party. Amused themselves by jumping rope, eating lollypops, and dancing. Everyone dressed appropriately for the occasion. And, oh you teachers!

January 21. Semester exams. What is wrong? Some of our star pupils appear!

January 25. Results of exams. "How come I got less than . . . . ?"

January 29. Springville here. Game lost. Sad but true! Score 20-17.

February 2. What do you know about this! Parents become juvenile and attend school.

February 4. Declamatory contest. We listen, we laugh, then we cry.

February 5. Basketball game. Score 25-21. How do you get that way, Mt. Vernon?

February 16. Rahn faithfully tries to carry out all suggestions for discipline given at teachers' meeting this morning.

February 17. Wish something exciting would happen!

February 18. Teachers' and Merchants' game.

February 19. Dads miss their neckties. Mothers miss their cosmetics. Found—in high school gym at Freshie party.

February 20. The spirit of the eighteenth century is back again. The Girl Reserves have their annual colonial ball.

February 26. Colonial times are certainly back. We see George Washington on the screen.

March 3. Marion high school students unite in world wide search for the kidnapped Lindbergh baby.

March 4-5. Basketball tournament at Keystone. We won the first game so that we could come home in the snow storm that night.

March 10. Senior Class looks exceedingly depressed. Terrible physics tests!

March 11. Seniors assemble and decide upon class motto, colors, and flowers.

March 14. Barnett and Shutts both display their Irish.

March 18. Sencir girls don new or borrowed clothes and leave for Mt. Vernon to attend the annual Grex of Cornell College.

March 22-24. Home Music Concert. Glee clubs and band display their talent.

March 23. Just see what spring is doing to our inmates. Even arouses a fighting spirit at the Senior party.

Miss Wilcox was trying to impress upon her pupils' minds the distinction accorded Francis Scott Key.

"Why is he so famous?" asked Miss Wilcox.

"I guess because he knew all four verses of the Star-Spangled Banner," replied Kimes.

"Lay down, pup; lay down;" ordered the man. "Good doggie —lay down, I say."

"You'll have to say, 'Lie down,' mister," declared Barnett. "That's a Boston terrier."

Teacher: "Willie, what are the two genders?"

Willie: "Masculine and feminine. The masculines are divided into temperate and intemperate and the feminine into frigid and torrid."

Shutts: (trying to explain parallel)—Now, children, what are two straight lines side by side, spaced even?

Garth: Parking spaces.

The teacher had been giving a lesson on the reindeer when he noticed that one boy was paying little or no attention. Turning to him suddenly he asked: "What is the use of the reindeer?"

"It makes things grow," was the unexpected reply.

There was a terrible crash as the train struck the car. A few seconds later, Mr. and Mrs. crawled out of the wreckage. Mrs. opened her mouth to say something, but her husband stopped her.

"Don't say a word," he snapped. "I got my end of the car across. You were driving the back seat, and if you let it get hit, it's no fault of mine."

C. Clark: I've added those figures up ten times, sir.
Mr. Rahn: Good boy!
C. Clark: And here's the ten answers, sir.

Golfer: Terrible links, caddy, terrible!
Caddy: Sorry, sir; these ain't links—you got off them an hour ago.

One darkey was giving another dusky brother a lecture on ignorance. "Yo' is so dumb," he said, "dat if yo' brains was ink an' somebody done used yo' nose fo' a fountain pen, dey couldn't even make a period."

Katie was learning all about the three R's in school and was called a "bright" student. One day the teacher asked her how many seasons there were. Remembering her father's talks to her mother at home about business, she answered: "Two, slack and busy."

Mr. Shutts: What kind of an image do you see in that concave mirror?

E. Hammond: Magnificent, upright, and virtuous, sir.

Teacher: If I take a potato and divide it into two parts, then into four parts, and each of the four parts into two parts, what would I have?

Little Eva: Potato salad!

Barnett had been instructing the children to say "double" whenever two of the same letter appeared together in a word. One day the class came to this sentence in their reader: "Up, up, and see the sunrise."

James Sweeney read: "Double up, and see the sun rise."

Miss M. Wood: That bookcase isn't an antique, is it?

Mr. Balster: No, but another day's work and it will be.

TRAVELING THROUGH ALGEBRA

Although Bob Smith had traveled a little, he seemed to think he had been just about everywhere, and he liked to tell of his travels. One day he was spinning a big travellogue to the boys of the old home town, when Warren Hunter asked, "Did you ever go through Algebra?" "Yes, sir," replied Bob, without hesitation, "but I went through it at night and I can't tell you much about it."

Miss Willard: John, how would you remove a foreign object from the eye?

John: (couldn't answer, and after much deep thinking—).

Miss Willard: Well, John, what is meant by a foreign object or substance?

John: Somebody from across the sea.

Mr. Shutts: "Now LeRoy, I'm going to bring this horseshoe out of the fire and lay it on the anvil. When I nod my head, hit it hard with a hammer." LeRoy did.

A school teacher who had been telling a class of small pupils the story of the discovery of America by Columbus ended it with: "And all this happened more than 400 years ago."

A little boy, his eyes wide open with wonder, said, after a moment's thought: "Gee! What a memory you've got!"

A Scotsman crossing the ocean proved to be a bad sailor and went to see the captain of the ship to see if he could do anything for seasickness.

"Have you got a dime?" asked the captain?

"Yes," replied the Scot.

"Well, hold it between your teeth during the trip," the captain advised.

A new system of memory training was being taught in a village school and the teacher was becoming enthusiastic. "For instance," he said, "supposing you want to remember the name of a poet—Bobby Burns. Fix in your mind's eye a picture of a policeman in flames. See—Bobby Burns!"

"Yes, I see," said a bright pupil, but how is one to know it does not represent Robert Browning?"

Miss Mentzer: "Who was the greatest general in France?"
Allan E.: "General Foch."
Miss Mentzer: "Right. Now, who was a German general?"
Allan: "Hindenburg."
Miss Mentzer: "Very good. Who was the American general?"
Allan (thinking very hard): "General Motors."

AN EYE FOR BUSINESS

A priest offered twenty-five cents to the boy who could tell him who was the greatest man in history.

"Christopher Columbus," answered the Italian boy.

"George Washington," answered the American lad.

"St. Patrick," shouted the Jewish boy.

"The quarter is yours," said the priest, "but why did you say St. Patrick?"

"Right down in my heart I know it was Moses," said the Jewish boy, "but business is business."

Teacher: "Oscar, please tell me what it is, when I say, 'I love, you love, he loves——'."

Oscar: "That's one of them triangles where somebody gets shot."

TAKE YOUR CHOICE

The employer called his secretary. "Here, John, look at this letter. I can't make out whether it's from my tailor or my lawyer. They're both named Smith."

And this is what John read: "I have begun your suit. Ready to be tried on Thursday."

Miss Barnett: "Can you tell me anything about John Milton?"

David Klink: "Well, he got married and wrote 'Paradise Lost!' Then his wife died, and he wrote 'Paradise Regained'."

THE FAITHFUL STENOG

"Now, Miss Mary Snyder," boomed Jasper M. Whurtel, president of the Whurtle Whirlwind Laundry Co., to his new stenographer, "I want you to understand that when I dictate a letter I want it written as dictated, and not the way you think it should be. Understand?"

"Yes, sir," said Miss Snyder meekly.

"All right—get your book and take a letter."

The next morning, O. J. Squizz of the Squizz Flexible Soap Co., received the following:

"Mr. O. A. or K. or J. something, look it up, Squizz.

"President of the Squizz what a name Flexible Soap Co., the gyps.

"Detroit, that's in Michigan, isn't it? Dear Mr. Squizz, hmmm:

"You're a bum business man. No, start over. He's a crook; but I can't insult him, or he'll sue me. The last shipment of soap you sent us was of inferior quality and I want you to understand, no, scratch out I want you to understand. Ah, unless you can ship, furnish, ship, no furnish us with regular soap you needn't ship us no more period or whatever the grammar is and please pull down your skirt. This cigar is out again pardon me and furthermore, where was I? Nice bob you have. Paragraph. The soap you sent us wasn't fit to wash the dishes no make that dog with comma let alone the laundry comma and we're sending it back period. Yours truly. Read that over, no never mind. I won't waste any more time on that egg. I'll look at the carbon tomorrow. Sign my name. We must go out to lunch soon."

OBSERVING THE TERMS OF A LEASE

The other day a man walked into a Boston store which specializes in birds and animals, and asked for 30,000 cockroaches. The storekeeper was naturally astounded. The man then explained that there was a clause in his lease that said he must leave his apartment just as he found it.

A TERRIBLE ENDING

There had been a train wreck and one of the two traveling teachers felt himself slipping from this life.

"Good-bye, Tom," he groaned to his friend. "I'm done for."

"Don't say that, old man!" sputtered the English professor. "For Heaven's sake, don't end your last sentence with a preposition!"

TOUGH WORLD

When Bernice H. was a little girl she said to her mother: "Mama, if I grow up and get married, will I have a husband like father?"

"I don't know dear. Very probably you will."

"And if I grow up and don't get married, will I be an old maid like Aunt Mary?"

"Perhaps," answered the mother.

Bernice thought it over for a moment.

"Mother," Bernice said, "it's a tough world for us women, ain't it?"

Mr. Wolfe: "This meat has a queer taste!

Mrs. Wolfe: That's queer. It should be good. I burned it and put Unguentine on it right away.

NO HOPE

Teacher: "If you stand facing the north, what have you on your left hand?"

Billy M.: "Fingers."

A freshman boy had slapped the girl seated next to him in Miss Wood's English class. Miss Wood was quick to rebuke the boy.

"Billy," she said, "no gentleman would strike a lady."

Billy was all ready with his reply. It was: "Well, no lady would tickle a gentleman."

Teacher: "Now you understand the difference between 'liking' and 'loving'?"

Bob: "Yes, I like my mother and father, but I love pie."

SERVICE IMPROVEMENT

"Fare, please! Fare!"

The passenger gave no heed.

"Fare, please!"

Still the passenger was oblivious.

"By the ejaculatory term, 'Fare'," said the conductor, "I imply no reference to the state of the weather, the complexion of the admirable blond you observe in the contiguous seat, nor even to the quality of the service vouchsafed by this philanthropic corporation. I merely alluded in a manner perhaps lacking in delicacy, but not in conciseness, to the monetary obligation set up by your presence in this car and suggest that you liquidate."

At this point the passenger emerged from his trance.

Dedicated to our friend

A passenger on a New York and Chicago limited train, looking under his berth in the morning, found one black shoe and one tan. He called the porter's attention to the error.

The porter scratched his head in bewilderment.

"Wel, ef dat don't beat all," he said. "Dat's de second time dis mawin' dat mistake's happened."

"Graves," said Bill, looking up from his writing, "do you spell 'sense' with a 'c' or an 's'?"

"That depends," replied Bill. "Do you refer to money or brains?"

"Aw, I don't mean either of them two," was the reply. "What I want to say is, 'I ain't seen him sense'."

It was during the rush hour. The little man suddenly thought of pick-pockets. Thrusting his hand into his pocket, he found another hand there ahead of him. "Get out, you theif." "Get out yourself," said the other.

"Say," interrupted a third, "If you two guys will get your hands out of my pocket I'll get off here."

Mama: "Now, Frankie, if they pass you cake a second time at the party you must say, 'No, thanks, I've had plenty." And don't you forget it."

All went well with the boy until the hostess said kindly: "Won't Frankie have another piece of cake?"

"No, thanks. I've had plenty, and don't you forget it!" was the astonishing reply.

JUST AS GOOD

A man went into Cohen's Store and asked for a copy of "Who's Who and What's What" by Jerome K. Jerome. "Haven't got dot book," said Cohen, "but we haf 'Who's He and Vot's He Got' by Bradstreet."

Lodger: This steak is like a cold day in June—very rare.

Landlady: And your bill is like March weather—very unsettled.

A small boy in the visitors' gallery was watching the proceedings of the Senate chamber.

"Father, who is that gentleman?" he asked, pointing to the chaplain.

"That, my son, is the chaplain," replied the father.

"Does he pray for the Senators?" asked the boy.

The father thought a moment and then said: "No, my son; when he goes in he looks around and sees the Senators sitting there, and then he prays for the country."

"How did there come to be so many words in the world?" asked little Lola, who was turning the leaves of a dictionary.

"Oh," replied her thirteen-year-old brother, "they came through folks quarreling. One word brought on another."

Housewife (calling her grocer): "And what's more, the next order you get from me will be the last I'll ever give you."

Voice on Wire: "It probably will, madam—you are talking to an undertaker."

Miss Willard: "So you've been abroad? How do you like Venice?"

Miss M. Wood: "I only stayed a few days—the whole place was flooded."

Miss Wood: "Richard compose a sentence containing the word "stranger".

Richard: You found so many mistakes in my English sentences yesterday, I bet you "strained yer eyes."

HONEST TO THE MINUTE

Here's a story about a Scotchman that's different.

A conductor on a London street car noticed an elderly Scotchman and a young Scottish lad.

The old man was holding a watch in his hand and was studying it with intense interest.

Suddenly he seemed satisfied and looked up. Seeing the conductor, he beckoned to him.

"What is it?" asked the conductor.

"I want to pay the rest of my grandson's fare," replied the Highlander. "He has just become twelve years old."

The conductor has since recovered.

Robert H.: "Who's the most enterprising man in this village?"

Mr. Shutts: "Now lookit here, Robert, you'd better ask that there question of somebody else in these parts—I never was much of a feller for talkin' about myself."

'TAIN'T RIGHT

Teacher: "I have went. That's wrong, isn't it?"
Johnny Welter: "Yes, ma'am."
Teacher: "Why is it wrong?"
Johnny: "Because you ain't went yet."

YES, THEY DO

"It's all nonsense to say brown eyes denote one thing and blue eyes another."

"Anyway, black eyes usually denote something."

"Dorothy Hanson your essay on 'My Mother' was just the same as your brother's."

"Yes, ma'am, we have the same mother."

BAD MANNERS

Johnny (gazing at set of false teeth in dentist's showcase: "Those are the kind of teeth I'm going to get when I get big."

Mother: "Johnny, how many times have I told you not to pick your teeth in public."

Saysell: "How much time did you put on this Shorthand?"
James R.: "Oh, about half an hour railroad time."
Saysell: "What do you mean by railroad time?"
James: "Including all stops and delays."

SOUND LOGIC!

Don Brooks was writing a theme when he asked Clarence how to spell a certain word.

"Why don't you buy a dictionary?" asked Clarence.

"What would I do with a dictionary? If I can't spell the words I couldn't find 'em, and if I can spell 'em I don't need a dictionary."

Tommy, after going to bed, became thirsty. He called out: "Mamma, I want a drink."

Mother's voice answered back: "Tommy, you go to sleep."

Tommy was silent for ten minutes.

Then: "Mamma, I want a drink."

"Tommy, go to sleep at once!"

"But, mamma, I want a drink."

"If you don't go to sleep this minute, I'll come and spank you."

More silence, this time for about two minutes. And then: "Mamma, when you come to spank me, will you bring me a drink?"

A small pickaninny heaved a jug over the counter to the grocer. "Mammy wants er dim's wurt er'lasses," she announced. Knowing the family ways, the grocer was inquisitive. "Got yo' dime with you, Sally?" he asked.

"Yas, suh."

Thereupon the grocer went below to the molasses barrel in the cellar. It was a cold day, and the stream ran slowly from the spigot, but he whistled and stamped about for ten minutes to keep his temperature as well as his courage. At last the jug was filled and his cold and lonely vigil ended. He returned and heaved the jug back over the counter.

"Lemme have yo' dime, Salley," he said.

Sally's eyes grew white and wide. "Laws a mussy," she exclaimed, "if mammy didn't gone and put dime in de bottom er dat jug."

Wife (showing husband expensive fur coat): "One really can't help but feel sorry for the poor thing that was skinned for this."

Husband: "I appreciate your sympathy."

Miss Austin: "Can anyone tell me how macaroni is made?"

Bernice S.: "First you take a big long hole and then you wrap some dough around it."

The professor was delivering the last lecture of the term. He told the students with much emphasis that he expected them to devote all their time to preparing for the final examination. "The examination papers are now in the hands of the printer," he concluded. "Now, is there any question you would like answered?"

Silence prevailed for a moment, then a voice piped up: "Who is the printer?"

"Why do you look so troubled, Mary?"

"Because if I go ter school ter-day de teacher'll lick me for not preparin' my lesson, an' if I stay home, me mudder'll lick me fer not goin' ter school. Now, either I got ter go or stay home. But if I go an' de teacher licks me an' mudder finds it out, me mudder'll lick me fer not doin't me school work; an' if I stay home an' me mudder licks me, de teacher'll lick me ter-morrow fer bein' a truant! Gee! Guess I'll go ter sleep!"

Mr. Goodfellow had dined out six nights in succession. On the seventh night he turned up at home for the evening meal. When he was seated, Mrs. Goodfellow rose and addressed the other occupants of the table:

"Children, we have with us tonight a guest of whom you have all heard, even if you do not know him personally. He is a man who has a reputation for good cheer in every club in the city, and this evening we are to have the honor and pleasure of being numbered among the admirers of his entertaining qualities. It is with the greatest pleasure that I present to you—your father!"

Barnett: "How many times have I told you to be at class on time?"

McBride: "I don't know! I thought that you were keeping score."
